It is important to remember that points were very difficult to come by in early years of our series. An entire season would only be 3 to 6 events for the first few years. A man like Richard Busa earned his best points as a 68 year old, without a lot of opportunities. If we are fortunate with great snow conditions and directors who wish to keep organizing, the future should allow for bigger point totals for those starting out. Just something to remember as many of the old timers get passed.
